"Tips to be Better Organized in 2018: Share and Learn"

Come join our conversation about how we can be better organized in the New Year. We will share request. Please write down two sentences, one for each of these ideas:

Write down one organizing idea you already use that works well for you that you can share with others. Be specific. For example: I organize my spices alphabetically.

Write down one challenge you currently have around organizing some aspect of your life that you would welcome help with. Again, be specific. For example: I frequently forget to ask or tell my doctor things during appointments.

If your ideas lend themselves to bringing us samples of what you mean, please bring them! If bringing samples is not possible, that's OK, you can just explain the ideas to us.

Our conversation will be led by Erika Alvarez, a management consultant who facilitates meetings.
